Ceramic Art

Vitreous china is an enamel coating that is applied to ceramics, particularly porcelain, after they've been fired, though the name can also refer to the finished piece as a whole. The coating makes the porcelain tougher, denser, and shinier, and it is a common choice for things like toilets and sink basins.

Vitreous china goes a step further and is made by coating porcelain or ceramic with an enamel made from powdered glass, giving it a glossy look. This special coating makes it only marginally more durable than ceramic and porcelain.

Note: We always recommend the cabinet maker and stone provider has the actual basin with them to measure before making cabinetry or cutting stone. Use of Epoxies on Benelli PURA Solid Surface basin will void manufacturer's warranty. If installing stone over the sink, ensure stone and sink are supported independently of each other.

All installations should be carried out by a qualified tradesman in compliance with the national Plumbing & Drainage Code and any State or Local Authority Regulations, in accordance with AS/NZS 3500 series of standards and AS/NZA 6400.
